A female was caught by homeowners after entering an open attached garage and spray painting graffiti on the interior of the garage. She has several non extraditable warrants and a history of CS use. Deputies found several items strewn along Raymond Way and Harper Lane. Items found include a credit card not belonging to her, a cell phone and a pair of camouflage sweatpants. Charges referred for criminal mischief and burglary - she was taken to the receiving center for mental health issues.

Deputies were dispatched to a home where a neighbor called saying a male was yelling at a female, and walking in and out of the garage. Upon arrival the male stated it was just a verbal argument and some stuff was broken inside but he was not going to press charges. The male inquired who had called and was adamant about finding out who. He was told it was anonymous. He asked for the phone number which the deputy refused to provide. He said he was going to go ask the neighbors who called and to tell them to mind their own business. He was told not to confront any neighbors, to just leave the situation alone. Approximately 40 minutes later the male called dispatch stating his neighbor had threatened to shoot him with a gun. Deputies responded and found the male standing in the road with several neighbors, all of them yelling. The male stated he went to the neighbors and was very politely inquiring of his neighbors who had called the police earlier. He said eventually a verbal argument occurred and the neighbor threatened him by using his fingers in the gun position. The neighbor stated the male was told to leave the property, refused, and used threatening language as well such as, "come to my house and I'll show what a good shot I am." The male was eventually arrested and booked on disorderly and trespassing.
